LADIES' SHIRTWAIST.

Pattern No. 5526.—This exceptionally attractive shirtwaist was developed in bleached pongee. A design in hand embroidery is worked in heavy silk on the space in front, but lace or any preferred mode of trimming may be used instead. Narrow tucks at each side of the front allow becoming fullness, while those at the back extend down to waist line at each side of the closing. Taffeta, linen, mohair and albatross will all make up effectively after this pattern. The medium size will require 2 3/4 yards of 36-inch material. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inch bust measure.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

LADIES' COSTUME.

Patterns Nos. 5571 and 5389.—This charming toilette was constructed of tan-colored Henrietta combined with corn lace. The waist closes in the back and a fitted lining serves as a support for the blouse, which is of lace. The outside portion is of the material, small buttons provide the decoration. The nine-gored skirt is a very stylish model which is laid in clusters of pleats and fits the hips smoothly. Silk, cashmere, nun's veiling, cologne and broadcloth are all adaptable. The medium size will require 1 1/4 yards of 44-inch material for the waist and 5 3/4 yards for the skirt. Ladies' Waist No. 5571: Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Skirt in short or short round length waist. Sizes for 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30-inch waist measure.

The above illustration calls for two separate patterns. The price is ten cents for the waist and ten cents for the skirt.

This pattern will be sent to you on receipt of 10 cents. Address all orders to the Pattern Department of this paper. Be sure to give size and number of pattern wanted. For convenience, write your order on the following coupon:

USE EXPLOSIVE HARPOON.

This Weapon Explodes Within Body of the Whale and Capture of Leviathan Made Easy.

The harpoon, which is the modern whale-hunter's chief reliance, is a truly murderous weapon, six feet in length and strong in proportion, made chiefly of malleable iron, and admirably designed for the slaying of the immense creatures, according to the Technical World. Its most striking feature, next to the bomb-head, which is operated by a time-fuse and explodes in the vitals of the whale, is the anchor-like device which prevents the harpoon "drawing" out of the body again under the terrible strain of the monster's frantic efforts to free itself. This consists of four hinged barbs, which lie along the shaft before it is fired, but which are forced apart and imbed themselves in the whale's body after he is hit, so that if the prize escapes—which sometimes occurs—it is only by breaking the rope.

When "fish" are numerous and there is a chance of killing more than one in a day, a novel method is adopted with the first victim. When it is seen to be dead, a hole is bored through its back into its stomach and air is pumped into it by a pipe from the steamer's engines, until it is inflated like a great balloon. The orifice is then closed with a wooden plug; and a man is left alongside in a small boat to establish ownership while the whaler steams off in quest of other prey. As many as five whales have been killed by a ship in one day; four is not an unusual "bag"; and three and two are commonly secured. A single ship killed 22 in a week; and the record year's work for one is 258—an amazing number when it is remembered that on stormy days it is impossible to cruise at all, as the sprays bury the gun; and that during the winter months fishing is abandoned. During that period the whales "strike off" the coast to escape the ice floes, to which the norquals are not partial, being in this respect unlike their arctic congeners, whose habitat is now the remotest section of Hudson's Bay and the channels which strike north from its farthest bounds into the Polar sea itself.

MAYOR'S TEST.

Building Emptied of 1,000 People in 4 1/2 Minutes.

Richmond, Ky., Feb. 19.—During the performance of "Buster Brown" at the opera house Mayor Woods appeared on the stage and announced that he was going to make a test and see how quickly the house could be cleared in case of fire. He asked those present to get out as quickly as possible after the termination of the play. There were nearly 1,000 people in the house, which was emptied in exactly four and one-half minutes.

Paducah's Step Forward.

The people of Paducah are beginning a campaign for the issue of bonds for the purpose of building an electric light plant and water works. It is said that ninety out of every hundred persons are signing the petition to the council to order an election. Owensboro's experience with her electric light plant demonstrates the wisdom of the Paducah people in their desire. This plant has been excellently administered. It furnishes remarkably cheap lights and is self sustaining. The commercial current furnished pays the operating expenses of the plant and turns a surplus into the treasury, while no account is made of the 275 street lights. If these were counted at the rate at which they are furnished in other places by corporations the entire plant would show a profit on the investment. Owensboro's water works are yet in the future so far as service is concerned, but it is believed that they will show the same result.—Inquirer.

The March Delineator.

In the March number The Delineator has fallen under the spell of romance which the forthcoming marriage of the President's daughter has evoked, and presents as its leading feature an article on "The Brides of the White House," illustrated with a handsome portrait of Miss Roosevelt never before published. The fiction of the number includes a short story by Mary Stewart Cutting, a clever study of child life by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and the continuation of "The President of Quex," Helen M. Winslow's interesting club story. Viola Allen, the popular young actress, who recently married a southern millionaire, writes of Shakespeare's heroines from the point of view of one who has personated many of them with great success. Dr. Murray concludes her series on "The Rights of the Child" with a paper on growth and development; and a unique feature beginning in this number is "The Houses of Correspondence," the first being The Doctor's House. Stories and pastimes are supplied for the amusement of children, and in the other departments many topics of interest and value to the home are treated. Fashion of course, plays a large part in this number, and the newest styles are illustrated and described in detail.

How to Prevent Bilious Attacks.
